GROW UP WITH FUN

快乐成长

In the digital and internet era, people can learn knowledge through many different channels---watching MOOCs and using search engines; they can find answers to 80% of their questions. But be aware, you may be easily become students of Google or Baidu University and fall into a flock of shallow-mind.

For young people to survive in the turbulent environment and severe competition of the digital era, you need to have integrated knowledge system, comprehensive capacities, high value and philosophy attainment. XJTLU's five-star educational model subscribed the characteristics global citizens should have in their value and philosophy system, capability system and knowledge system. Nurturing such kind of global citizen needs to rethink education, reshape learning and teaching, redefine University.

Traditionally, curriculum learning activities such as classroom teaching is the key part of campus life. Given it is relative easier for students to acquire knowledge via a variety of ways, new disruptive technologies are changing the learning and education landscape, classroom teaching would only consists part of the learning. Therefore, university should encourage students participate various extra curriculum activities, such as developing colourful clubs and organizing meaningful events, in which students could integrate the pieces of knowledge you learnt from different channels into a systematic knowledge body, learn how to use the knowledge to solve real-world problem, sharpen your capability to communicate and cooperate with others, and present your findings with innovative ways.

Club is not only for fun, relaxation and pleasure; it is also for your growth through a cheerful atmosphere and meaningful activities.

XJTU ALMA Team belongs to the ALMA International Volunteer Team. It aims to support the public welfare to spread love through the weak strength of ants. We regularly organize various public welfare activities to help more students and teachers devote themselves to public welfare.
